Forecast for Monday 06 Nov 2023

Weather: A mix of showers and brighter spells. Showers will be most frequent across western hills, but often spreading further east, with all hills likely seeing some rain at times. These could also be heavy at times, with the risk of hail and thunder, particularly for the afternoon.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 60% in the west and 80% in east

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud will occasionally obscure hills above 600m, especially in the west and during any heavier showers. Visibility will otherwise be good to very good, but falling to moderate during any of the heavier showers.
